Interested in studying Medicine Overseas?

St George's University specialises in training medical doctors, providing 10% of all doctors who work in the USA, as well as many doctors who go on to work internationally including New Zealand. SGU has graduated over 21,000 doctors who are practicing medicine in over 50 countries worldwide.

Even if you have never considered studying medicine, you might be curious to know that this could be an option for you. There is no limit to how many students can study medicine at SGU and entry requirements are quite achievable. Students have the option to divide their studies between the UK and Grenada and can choose to study the final two residency years in teaching hospitals in the UK / USA / Canada - with 85 teaching hospitals in the US, UK and Canada, and at least one graduate practicing medicine in each of the top 25 hospitals in the world.

In the zoom meeting you will learn the benefits of this exciting option for an international career in medicine. We invite you to a scheduled Zoom meeting.
